FAQ

Below you'll find answers to most frequently asked questions to help make your experience with us more enjoyable.

Who are we?

It is our goal at Legacy to offer our customers access to top quality building material and services at the guaranteed lowest price. We also offer our full team of construction experts to handle all of your supply and construction needs.

What's the benefit of ordering from you?

You will find the average savings on any of these lines to be between 40 to 50% lower than the chain stores.

How and where to start?

You can start by calling us with your own measurements, or just send us a list of cabinets and our staff will be glad to help you.

How do I layout my floor plan?

Start by taking the entire room dimension, for example, your kitchen is 12' long and 12' wide. Indicate on your floor plan door and window openings; don't forget to leave room for the trim (moldings, etc). Next, indicate where the existing plumbing for the sink is, and where your electric/gas lines for the stove is located. Also, please indicate where you would like your refrigerator. With this information we would be glad to give you some layout suggestions.

If you have your list of cabinets/sizes...we can skip the design process, saving you some time.

We also provide FREE SHIPPING on most orders!!!

Choose a style, then email your cabinet list or detailed layout to: cabinets@179installed.com with your contact/shipping info.

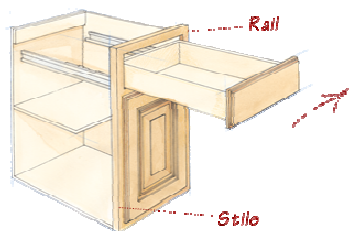

What is the Cabinet order process like?

If you do not have a list of cabinets once we have the wall to wall detailed measurements of your kitchen, we will make a design by using our professional cabinetry design software. After you are satisfied with our design, and or quote we will start the ordering process. At the time you place the order we collect 50% down and the remainder (50%) is paid upon delivery. We accept cash, check, money order and all major credit cards (credit cards must be swiped, fee may be charged).

Can I buy just the material?

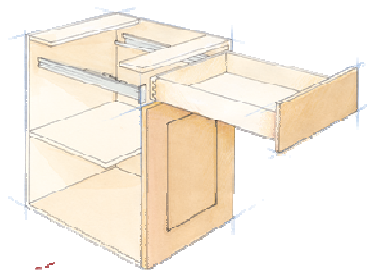

Sure you can, we have full install teams (in most areas), but we do drop ship almost anywhere. FREE SHIPPING is provided on most orders.

What are frameless cabinets? We offer both:

FRAMED CABINETS

Framed cabinets are sometimes referred to as face-frame or traditional cabinets. They have a wood frame on the front, called a face frame. The face frame is usually constructed of solid hardwood, the same species as the cabinet doors. This frame contains both vertical members called "stiles" and horizontal members called "rails." All door hinges and drawer glides attach to the face frame.

FRAMELESS CABINETS

Frameless cabinets are sometimes called full-overlay, full-access, or European cabinets. Simply put, a frameless cabinet has no wood frame on the front of the cabinet. Because there is no frame, it's easier to access cabinet interiors. In fact, you can expect to access up to 10 percent more interior storage space as a result. Also, with frameless cabinets, door hinges are concealed and mounted to the inside of the cabinet wall.
